The contents of the cartons have been processed and forwarded to New Windsor, Maryland, for distribution among the needy throughout the world.

A committee consisting of Mr. William Boland, Mr. Ben Hyton and Mr. J. B. Adams was named by the president to make its report at the November meeting of the association for 1967. The committee will make its report at the November meeting at which time elections will be held.

The dinner, attended by over 200 cancer volunteers from throughout Palm Beach County, featured a tribute to Mrs. Barbara Goodwin, executive director of the ACS in Palm Beach County, who will begin her 18th consecutive year in that roll shortly.

Ambulance Crisis Relief Is Planned

Telephone Cables Cut In Pahokee

City Commission Meet Postponed

Telephone service was interrupted in Pahokee last Friday when cables were severed by gun shots, according to officials of Southern Bell Telephone Co.

The two cables were discovered broken late Friday afternoon, according to C. D. Leonard, local Southern Bell manager. Workmen began immediately repairing the lines and service was restored about 10 or 11 p.m. Friday.

Six empty number six shot-guns were found on the ground under the cable. These were turned over to police who investigated.

No further clues as to the damages have been found, according to Leonard.

The cables were found with large holes in three places along Lattimore Road in Pahokee. One of the cables connected with Belle Glade and the other served some 400 Pahokee subscribers.

It was estimated that about 200 subscribers were without service while another 200 had impaired service.

Relief for ambulance crisis in portions of the Glades area was seen by action of the Board of County Commissioners Monday.

Commissioners agreed to allocate up to $35,000 during the current fiscal year for the emergency service in the south west portion of Palm Beach County. Action came after Commissioner E. W. Weaver offered a resolution on the crisis.

Weaver pointed out dangers the forthcoming harvest season pose in the area. He not only stressed the number of heavy sugar cane and produce vehicles that will travel the state and county roads, but he mentioned the number of labor buses and individual vehicles that will be used by in workers.

Much concern has been expressed concerning the lack of service in this area. The Junior Chamber of Commerce has named a committee of Ray Alston, Doug Lockhart and Doug Jones to work for a solution to the problem.

The committee plans to organize a volunteer group that will act as a backup crew for the regular operators. An emergency service is being offered by the city, but subsidization was made necessary because City Manager Tevis Hugely said the city could not furnish the service unless the payment was guaranteed.

To properly operate the ambulances, Hugely said, will require at least four full-time employees.

Weaver in presenting his resolution said it would be a blot on the county should an emergency occur and no ambulance service available.

Weaver said he was very much encouraged over the reception other commissioners gave his suggestions.

Community Service Award Winner Is First A Devoted Wife & Mother

A transplant from "Down East", with a heart of Maine in her voice, Mary Orsenigo realizes she must soon climb down from cloud nine. This is where she says she has spent her time since being awarded a plaque for distinguished community service, last week.

Her unflinching efforts toward obtaining a new municipal library for the city have been recognized, but she knows there is still much work to be done.

In the nine years Mary has been a resident of Belle Glade, she has worked with enthusiasm on many civic and educational projects. To none of them has she devoted quite the time and effort which she has given to the Library. She has been Chairman of the Library Board for four years, and her activities at this job lead to the presentation of the award, given by the Chamber of Commerce at its annual awards banquet.

Her husband, Dr. Joseph Orsenigo, and two sons, Mark and Paul, claim they have not lacked for attention during this period. Among her quantities are a talent for organization which allows her to keep several projects underway, simultaneously.

Mary was born on an island off the coast of Maine, where her father, William J. Billings, made his living "on the water". Mr. Billings has been a regular winter visitor to Belle Glade since the death of his wife, in 1962.

She was educated in the schools of Stonington, Maine, at the University of Maine, and at Cornell University, where she received a MS degree in Institutional Management, and met her husband.

Their eldest son, Mark, was born in Venezuela, where Dr. Orsenigo held research for two years on Nelson Rockefeller's farm, in the bush. Mark consequently holds dual citizenship. Following two years in Costa Rica, Dr. Orsenigo accepted a position as Horticulturalist with the Everglades Experiment Station. Paul was born six months after their move to the Glades.

Before her marriage Mary Billings enjoyed the role of career woman. After obtaining her B. S. degree she was a Dietitian in Residential Halls, at Wellesley College in Massachusetts for two years; and then held a similar position at Wheaton, another girl's college outside of Boston.

For three years she taught Home Economics at the University of Maine, working on a graduate degree at Cornell in the summers. She then spent a year of graduate work at Cornell, and met Joe Orsenigo.

Before their marriage she taught for one more year, at the University of Minnesota. Her activities since coming to Belle Glade have been varied, with the jobs of wife and mother being the most important.

Highway

(Continued From Page 1) Roberts, local resident and retiring member of the House. George LeBron Williams, chairman of the Canal Hazards Safety Committee, pledged support of his group to the proposed highway. The safety group has as its major project four-laning of a highway from the Glades area to West Palm Beach.

It was estimated that the cost of construction of such a highway would be between $300,000 and $600,000 per mile. The high cost is attributed to the difficulty of construction on the muck.

Weaver and Lytal suggested the County Commission would be host for the organizational meeting. The suggestion was accepted.

Heart

The 20-minute cartoon talks about some of these factors: proper diet, not smoking, regular exercises, trimming overweight, and controlling high blood pressure.

Narration traces man's discoveries about how his heart works and how new medical knowledge has helped bring many forms of heart disease under control.

People interested in this film or other Heart films may call Mrs. Wood, 996-3637 in Belle Glade.

Competition, No Monopoly, Goal of Free Enterprise

The high standard of living enjoyed by the people of the United States, which we constantly seek to improve, is the product of our competitive free enterprise economy. Congress recognized this fact years ago, when it passed, to preserve and promote healthy competition, it enacted antitrust laws to prohibit monopolies and collusive practices in affairs of commerce.

Today, antitrust laws are needed just as they were when Congress passed the antitrust legislation in 1890. But, there is growing concern among the nation's most informed business leaders that recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions are changing the basic objectives of antitrust laws.

M. A. Wright, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, in a recent speech, expressed a broadly felt concern when he asked: "Are our antitrust laws, as presently interpreted and enforced, promoting competition, or are they undermining the very thing they were designed to protect?" Directing attention primarily to business mergers and acquisitions, Wright said the Supreme Court's interpretation is establishing a new merger policy "... which places more emphasis on preserving fragmented markets and a given number of competitors than on promoting competition."

He said mergers and acquisitions are part of economic development. "At some time almost every business ... considers combining with another firm or selling its operations. Large firms often want to merge with another company or expand markets, to insure a source of supply, or ... diversify operations. Small and medium size firms consider mergers for these same reasons ... as a means of growth or improving their competitive position against larger firms," he declared.

The Supreme Court, however, seems to think the antitrust laws mean "the more competitors the better," for it is blocking many mergers and placing unusual emphasis upon arbitrary measures as indicators of competition. The Court also seems to object to mergers which increase efficiency, fearing the result might give the combined firm an unfair advantage over its competitors in the market. "As a result," Wright said, "decisions have been handed down that are not always in the best interest of the public or of our competitive system. In fact, in their efforts to maintain fragmented markets, the courts and regulatory agencies have probably often reduced effective competition."

The Absentee Vote

Absentee votes can and do make the difference in many elections. In 1940 the Governor of Kansas won re-election, with the absentee ballots giving him the margin of victory.

In 1960 Richard Nixon carried the State of California by the margin of the absentee vote.

Today there are over a million Americans outside the continental limits of the United States. Many of them are of voting age, and only temporarily out of the country—in the military service, on assignments from their employers, or just traveling for pleasure.

One out of five Americans changes his domicile every year. Many of these people not yet qualified to vote in their new location may still vote by absentee ballot where they used to live by virtue of property ownership or other legal consideration.

Now is the time to determine in all states (except Rhode Island, where it's already too late) whether you need to cast an absentee ballot. If you're going to be away at voting time, make arrangements at city hall to obtain the forms to fill out to get the necessary absentee ballots to assure a 100 per cent voting record in each family.

The more we know, the more we know we don't know.

The Federal Trade Commission and the Antitrust Division of the Justice Department, established to enforce antitrust laws, are also affecting merger policy, but in quite a different way. Due to changing court concepts and the increasingly higher cost of litigation, these agencies are making national policy by sheer threat of suit. Many mergers and acquisitions are, in fact, halted without judicial determination, because the cost of going to court is prohibitive for most firms.

Wright said the promotion of healthy competition is not the same as maintaining a given number of competitors in a market area. He proposes that a study in depth of the nation's merger policy be undertaken to determine its potential impact on competition and other economic objectives. He believes when the basic effects of current policy are understood, it will be possible to enact legislation to improve antitrust policy.

The American people want to be protected from mergers and acquisitions which would monopolize, or tend to monopolize, a market, but they also want to be guaranteed that the highest degree of competition will always prevail in their marketplace. Whether or not our antitrust laws, under current interpretations, accomplish these dual purposes is questionable. That question will have to be answered if this country is to continue under the type of competitive system which has created material abundance, progress and opportunity for our people beyond the attainments of any other nation in the world's history.

What Price?

The skeptic has been heard to say that "every man has his price." And, the implication is that every man can be led to turn his back on conscience for a "price"—money, fame, flattery, depending upon his personal weaknesses.

How strong do you hold to a principle? What is your price? Can you hold to a purpose, cling to a belief, deny recognition or profit merely because conscience tells you it is the thing to do?

If, indeed, "every man has his price," for some men the price must be justice, fair play—and truth. These things the skeptic may refer to as "ideals." But they are realities. The man who has learned to struggle with his conscience has also learned that peace of mind and happiness are not for sale at any price in the public market places.

In the final analysis, the best of life is not what you have and not what you claim to be; it is what you are, it is the final destination of the footprints you leave upon the sands of your lifetime.

Highway users pay more than 24 per cent of all state taxes collected in this country, reports Oil Facts. In fiscal 1968, the states collected $26 billion, of which $6.3 billion came from taxes on motor fuels and motor vehicles and from drivers' license fees. Motor fuel taxes alone amounted to $4.3 billion.

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

A Nation With Courage

On November 11 of this year the people of Rhodesia will celebrate their first year of independence. They have truly made history. Though subjected to cruel economic pressure, including an oil embargo such as the Western nations never dared apply against Communist Cuba, the Rhodesians have carried on in the great tradition of Anglo-Saxon peoples struggling against tyranny.

Though the Johnson administration has chosen to support the position taken by Britain's socialist government for reasons not worthy of a great nation, many Americans are mindful of the parallels between Rhodesia's declaration of independence and the American declaration of independence of July 4, 1776. Ironically, the U. S. Department of State, upon the political view taken by the Johnson administration, asserts that "Southern Rhodesia remains a British colony." The irony is in the fact that it was in precisely these terms that Lord North's government described independent America in 1776.

The Johnson administration is guilty of poor historical understanding. Since 1953, Rhodesians have been self-governing. They paid all their bills for more than 40 years, without financial assistance from the mother country. In World War II Rhodesians—including Prime Minister Ian Smith—fought bravely against the Nazis. They have had a poor reward from the reward of the government of Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Rhodesia has won sympathy among the American people, not the Johnson administration, because they have refused to be stamped into a surrender of their country. The "no win" thinkers of the Rhodesians. They thought they could be intimidated or bought off. But the Rhodesians refused to let their country take the road to primitivism and one-party dictatorship simply because liberal pundits and politicians declared that "winds of change" were blowing in Africa. They held on. They have stuck it out, and thereby proved a living example of the Dunkirk spirit that animated English-speaking people a generation ago. To be sure, no one can tell what fresh pressures may be applied against the Rhodesians. The ideologues who are determined to drive civilized men from Africa are as loud and have as ever in condemning Rhodesia. They want the U. N., which is incapable of bringing peace to any land, to launch a war against the Rhodesians.

If tragedy overwhelms the Rhodesians, it also will overwhelm the free countries of the West. For the people of the West have a big stake in the survival of an independent Rhodesia. Since the end of World War II, Westerners have been retreating around the world. The forces of primitivism and communism have come to power in country after country. Lands once progressing smoothly by intelligent Western leadership have reverted to barbarism and brutality. The Western world cannot stay permanently in retreat. Primitivism cannot be allowed to advance indefinitely. The United States, as the leading nation in the world, needs to end its infatuation with backwardness and use its great influence for good in supporting governments that are led by men of experience and civil standards. This is the kind of government independent Rhodesia has today.

Unfortunately, the tides of emotion have been stirred by the Rhodesians' declaration of independence. This kind of emotionalism accounts for the fact that the Chinese mainland to the communists and the coming to power of Fidel Castro. The same elements that hailed Chinese "agrarian reform" and praised the Castro revolution today are urging a U. N. military campaign against Rhodesia's civilized government.

It would be shocking if the U. S. used its power to supply the Smith government in Rhodesia, for an independent Rhodesia is a strongpoint for the West. If Rhodesia is secure against the kind of tyranny that prevails in the black African states, then the advance of communism in Africa will be arrested. It is sadness for the Johnson administration to send 300,000 men to fight communists in South Vietnam and then to pressure independent Rhodesia. If Rhodesia is stripped of its independence, one can be sure that communism in time will triumph in this key African territory.

Miss Mary T. Rayder has been appointed to the position of Aftercare Counselor in Region 10 of Florida's new state wide Aftercare Program, according to David R. Walters, Deputy Director for Aftercare of the Division of Child Training Schools in Tallahassee.

This new program, funded by the last session of the Legislature, provides counseling and supervision to boys and girls released from Florida training schools serving delinquent children, according to Walters. Region 10 will serve Broward, Palm Beach, Martin, St. Lucie and Okeechobee counties.

Miss Rayder, a native of Miami, is a graduate of Florida State University with a degree in Criminology and Corrections. She will reside in Miami.

Uncle Dan From Doolie Says:

Dear Mister Editor: We was coming down to the end of the Congressional campaign all over the nation and they was running about true to form. When I was a boy all a Congressman had to do to get elected was to be a good fence-straddler. And I can collect we had some good ones in them days.

They was a Congressman named Bob Doughton from North Carolina, that come from a mountain district where the moonshiners was his good supporters. It was election time and a group of preachers ask him so state his platform on liquor.

"Well," said Congressman Doughton, "if you're asking about the necker of the gods that relaxes a man after a hard day, the sure cure for snakebite, the amber fluid that promotes fellowship, the relief for high strung nerves, warm a man's innards on a winter evening, I'm all for it. But if you're talking about the Devil's brew that drives good men mad, that vile poison that leaves precious children withered and blind and destroys the greatest of the American institutions, the family, then I'm against it with all my mind and all my strength."

They say he stayed in Congress for 12 years and died in office. It's easy to see how he did it. They wasn't no such wide or no high fence to straddle. Furthermore, they say he was born in a log cabin and he never allowed his constituents to forfeit it. But in the political campaign for Congress we got new things was a little different. The candidate has got to straddle the fence, but they got to talk properly, higher wages, shorter hours, more benefits, and not mention no log cabin. That's a dirty word in the Great Society. And they got to stay away from the subject of sizes and prices. For instance, a plug of chewing tobacco that cost 15 cent five years ago will sell for 17 cent, but the plug ain't but half as big. To be on the safe side, Mister Editor, a candidate for reelection skips over the matter of sizes and prices.

Some of the main things he has got to stress in these days and times is them benefits. If all the people they got living off the Government or working for it votes for a candidate, he has got a real-made audience.

I have took note that some of the new candidates for the country ain't no sharp in these matters. I heard one fellow say on television he was favor of making money and credit so tight it would be as hard to get it as to pay it back. That feller, Mister Editor, ain't got a chance.

But politics in the Great Society was getting mighty complicated. I don't understand 'em enough to discuss 'em, but I shore am enjoying my ignorance.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Dear Mr. Llewellyn:
While reading through the Belle Glade Herald today I came across an article which read "Is Bible Worth Reading Today?" For one truly know that the Bible is — and will always be — worth reading, yesterday, today, and tomorrow. As the end of your article you made the statement that anyone requesting the Gospel of John would receive it. I am requesting a copy of this Gospel. I would like to keep it here on my job with me so that I might have it to read during any slow period I may have.

Thank You
Yours sincerely,

UNICEF Trick Or Treaters Will Be Calling Oct. 27

A last stitch to a witch's costume, a final burning of corks to use as makeup, and it is ready, just in time. In a few days Halloween will summon boys and girls to the streets of Belle Glade, to show off their newly acquired personalities of ghosts, goblins, and spacemen.

Under the auspices of Community Methodist Church some 40-50 of our boys and girls will not be collecting for themselves, but to help the world's needy children. They will neither ask for candy nor apples, but for pennies, nickels and dimes, which will send milk and medicine where they are most needed.

The UNICEF Trick or Treaters will be officially identified by the UNICEF seal on their collection cartons on Thursday, Oct. 27, from 7:30-8:30 p.m. They will make their rounds in small groups, accompanied and supervised at all times by adults and responsible teachers. Every penny they receive can mean five gloves of milk or the vaccine to protect a less fortunate child from tuberculosis.

The Trick or Treat program is endorsed by President Johnson and by our civic and religious leaders. It will take place in over 13,000 American communities, with the participation of about 3.5 million children. Locally, it is organized by Community Methodist Church.

The collection cartons will be held at Jackson Hall. After the doorbell ringing is over, a Halloween party will be held at Jackson Hall.

What Will Your Future Be Like?

By Lewis Lovelien

A scientist speaking recently in New York, speculated on the nature of the world in which we will live in the last quarter of this century.

"People will live in 10-room houses," he predicted, "with three cars in the garage and a helicopter on the lawn."

He forecast a four-day work week, with three-month vacations.

However, he added, "Many Americans will be satisfied, but others will find such a life meaningless and purposeless."

Jesus said, "A man's life does not consist in the abundance of the things which he possesses."

TRENDS CONTINUING

While the trend toward high incomes and more luxurious living continues, the trend toward increasing immorality and a constantly rising crime rate is also continuing.

It is this time for us to turn our hearts and minds away from the material and toward the spiritual values of life.

Our forefathers who undertook the dangerous journey from their homes in civilized England and Europe to come to this wild continent did not come in search of ease or worldly pleasure.

They were looking for a place where they could worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences.

Nowadays, people laugh at the old rules of Puritans, saying that they were much too strict.

Perhaps they were — but if the Puritans could come back and look at the nation now, would they laugh, or would they weep?

We have made so much progress materially, it is too much to hope that we can now turn our attention to things that last?

The Bible says, "The things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal."

SECRET OF SUCCESS

The secret of real success in this life consists in understanding that the things which we can see are of less value than those which we cannot see.

In the category of things which cannot be seen are honor, integrity, kindness, love, and trust in God.

He who is poor in the unseen things of the spirit is not a success, even if he has more wealth than he can count.

He who is rich in the coin of God's kingdom is not poor, though he may have barely enough to live on.

Refreshments of punch and a birthday cake, with candles, were served by Mrs. Annie Allen and Mrs. Joanne Deanton. The ladies also baked the cake.

Approximately 50 were present for the occasion.

Faith
"May you be strengthened with all power, according to his glorious might, for all endurance and patience with joy."
Colossians 1:11

Don't waste your time lamenting what might have been, nor cry for the things that are not. Be glad in God. Strengthen your faith. Approach life with a purpose, with a determination to endure, to prevail as best you can, even against hardship, doubt and temptation.

Whatever tomorrow brings, you will find needed strength in faith.

GROUP 5

You don't believe a 6 can act anything like an 8?

With our new Overhead Cam Six you'd better believe it.

A few short years ago automotive engineers were struggling to coax 165 hp out of a four barrel V-8 using premium gas. Remember? Our single barrel OHC 6 gets 165 hp on regular. And 215 from the premium gas four barrel option.

Most American sixes (and some underprivileged V-8s) don't even come close. Expensive European sports machines do. But they're overhead cams, too. In fact, they inspired us. But we think ours is better.

Our OHC 6 is standard on all Tempests and Le Mans. To say nothing of new styling, new interiors, new colors, new options (like that hood-mounted tach) and new standard safety features (like passenger guard door locks, General Motors' new energy absorbing steering column and a four-way hazard warning flasher).

We've said enough. If a test drive won't sell you, nothing will.

County's Farms Now Total 529

A total of 529 farms was counted in Palm Beach County during the 1964 Census of Agriculture, the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census reports.

In the last previous Census of Agriculture (1959) the total count in the county was 527 farms.

The 1964 total is published in a preliminary report on the county just issued. The report also shows that average farm size in the county was 847.4 acres and that the average value of the county's farms (land and buildings) in 1964 was $445,380.

Other important county statistics in the report are:

1. Value of all farm products sold by farms in the county in 1964, $96,568,109; in 1959, $50,487,325.
2. Value of all crops sold by county farms in 1964, $378,611; in 1959, $35,316,506.
3. Value of all livestock and livestock products sold by county farms in 1964, $10,185,497; in 1959, $15,170,819.

Information obtained for the first time in an agricultural census included the amount of income received by the county's farmers ($4,001) from recreational services as well as data on the use of pest control chemicals in the county in 1964.

A Census of Agriculture is taken every 5 years in years ending in "4" and "9" to gather information on the county's agricultural resources and production. The data are needed to make decisions affecting many segments of the U. S. economy. The 1964 farm census was the 18th in a series that began in 1840.

The preliminary report for the county contains more than 500 facts about agriculture in the county. Among additional facts it contains are the number of farms by size, type, and economic class; the number of farm operators by method of tenure, age, color, off-farm work, and number of school years completed; land in farms by use and by land-use practices; data on equipment and facilities; farm expenditures; number of hired workers; and number of farms reporting poultry and livestock production and those reporting crop production by sales and quantities as well as values.

NOTE: Single copies are available for 10 cents from the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C. (20233) or from any field office of the Department of Commerce. These are located in major cities.

Conservation Needs Inventory Is Scheduled

Soil and Water Conservation Needs Committees at all counties in Florida have been activated to update the Conservation Needs Inventory.

The Soil Conservation Service has USDA leadership for the inventory. This inventory collects and summarizes information on soil resources, land uses, probable land use adjustments, and soil and water conservation treatments needed.

The original inventory was completed in 1961, and the summary of the data was published in 1962. Various analyses of the data have been made by agencies and groups in and out of the Government. The present inventory will be an effort to update the previous information. Completion of the inventory is slated for December 1967.

Membership in the County Conservation Needs Committee consists of representatives from the Agricultural Research Service, Engineering Research, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Florida Extension Service, Farmers Home Administration, Florida Forest Service, Soil Conservation Service, as well as representatives from County and State agencies in the counties that can contribute to the updating of the inventory.

Increased emphasis will be put on fish and game fishing in the grass during Hialeah's 40-day meetings next winter. If the response is good, Hialeah will add a stake for the girls on grass.

Asparagus once was thought good for any ailment from the prevention of heart disease to heart trouble, says the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association.

The backing shark, one of the largest in the shark kingdom, grows to a length of 40 feet or more, says the Miami Seaquarium's Capt. Bill Gray.

D.C.T. Offers Opportunities

Developing skills through training and working while completing a high school education is the goal for the 34 seniors enrolled in Diversified Cooperative Training. It is designed to prepare students of employable age for job efficiency in many different occupations through utilizing the business and industrial establishments of the community as training agencies.

Officers Are Elected

The D. C. T. elected a slate of officers for the school year 1966-67. They are Jackie Poole, president; Tony Penney, vice-president; Linda Hood, secretary; Margaret Bailey, treasurer; Ruth Conley, Chaplain; Charles Nicks, historian. Mr. Hayes and Mr. Ward are co-ordinators.

Earn While You Learn

A D. C. T. student's day is divided into four hours of study in school and four hours of work on the job. Of his four hours spent in school, two hours are devoted to requirements for graduation. The other two hours are spent in study of subjects or materials related to the job under the direction of the coordinator. To make sure the D. C. T. student receives comprehensive training in the chosen occupation, only jobs that offer at least 1,000 hours of training are considered for D. C. T. training. All jobs must offer opportunities for advancement. While the student is paid a wage comparable to that earned by a beginning worker in the occupation, wage earning is not the objective of the program during the period of training. Last year 80% of the students remained on the job.

Students Employed

Various business in the area have hired the students. The students and places of work are as follows: Sonia Antunovich — Secretary — Week's C. P. A.; Margaret Bailey — Secretary — Florida Sugar; Virginia Buchanan — Secretary — Glades Medical Clinic; Bruce Camplin — X-ray Technician — Glades General Hospital; Marcia Causey — Secretary — Everglades Federal; Terry Connell — Secretary — Judge Tyson's Office; Ruth Conley — Secretary — Experiment Station; Sandra Farmer — Clerk — Dave's Palm Beach Shop; Donna Motes — General Office Clerk — Glades Sugar House; Jackie Poole — Central Supply Room Manager — Glades General Hospital; Ann Priest — Dietary Aid — Glades General Hospital; Linda Sides — General Office Clerk — Glades Sugar House; Kevin Towell — Payroll Clerk — Pioneer Growers; Maxine Walsh — Sheet Metal Worker — Bett's Sheet Metal; Ricky Young — Electrician — Crichtfield Electric; Sandy Goodbread — Dietitian — Glades General Hospital; Ima Jean Johnson — Sales Clerk — Diana Shop; Pamela Bushin — Sales Clerk and Cashier — Royal's Department Store; Tony Penney — Manager Trainee — Royal's Department Store; where they were trained, and 20% got employment elsewhere.

Sue Atkinson — Cashier — Case Rate Villers; Joyce Moran — Cashier — Case Rate Villers; Brenda Freeman — Cashier — Case Rate Villers; Linda Hood — Sales Clerk — Belle Glade Jewelry; Jack Scott — Machinist Trainee — Belle Glade Machine Works; Sonny Campbell — Sales Clerk — Raulerson's Office Supply; Kenneth Glass — Stock Clerk — Kwik Check; Jannett Pearson — Cashier — Kwik Check; Don Phelps — Field and Lab Assistant — Experiment Station; Troy Martin — Mechanic — Glades Chevrolet; Wayne Bradley — Fender and Body Repairman — Glades Chevrolet; Martha Burgett — Clerk Typist — Florida Sugar; Charles Nicks — Clerk Typist — Belle Glade Health Center; Alan LeBeau — Part's Clerk — Watson Ford.

J. V.'s Tear-up Seacrest

The J. V.'s hit pay-dirt when they gave the Seacrest Seahawks a 7-0 whipping under the home lights last Thursday night. As the game progressed, Belle Glade received the ball on the Seacrest 35 yard line after the Seahawks were forced to punt out. The punt went short and the J. V.'s ended up with the ball. Spurred by a successful touchdown drive begun by quarterback Tom Altman, the Rams pushed over from the two with a quarterback widge. Harry Hutto kicked the extra-point to make the second quarter score 7-0. This was the first time that the J. V.'s hard-hitting defense played football all the way and maintained the lead while going on to win 7-0.

Player Of The Week

Because of his outstanding defensive play, Dennis Williams has been chosen this week's Player of the Week. Dennis plays defensive middle guard for the Rams. This is his first year on varsity. Dennis was continually in the Clewiston backfield making key tackles on the Clewiston backs. Because of his consistent play in the last few games, we feel that Dennis has more than earned the title of this week's "Player of the Week."

RAMS TANGLE WITH WILDCATS TOMORROW

The Rams will tangle with the Palm Beach Wildcats Friday night on Palm Beach's field in a non-conference game. The Rams have been the victors in the last three out of four games, and last year by a score of 15-7. One advantage for the Wildcats will be playing on their field. The Wildcats are a strong team this year. They won their opening game against the leading contender for the Eastern Division title, Lake Worth. This will be a hard-fought victory and will require an all out team effort.

Says Ewe

It seems that "Ram territory" begins at this side of the Hendry County line. That is a welcome sign that Lake Harbor delegates created across the highway to greet Clewiston on their way to B. G. We hear that Martha Lynn Molly T., Kathy C. and Gail R. were responsible. Binoculars are a truly fascinating invention. Many people have spent time viewing "scenery" through them, especially some of our younger teachers. Just ask Mr. Sanders, Mr. Whitehead, or Mr. Chandler about it. This was the first year that Mr. Averill had trouble getting the boys to hurry and get ready to have their pictures taken. Mickey M., Bryant D., Ronnie G., Pat B., and Wendell W., weren't those football pictures neat? Everytime Ronnie Brooker starts his jeep it seems he has a car load. What's the magic spell, Ronnie? Why are all the majorettes playing with fire? Could it be that they are going to twirl fire batons at the half time? Ronnie G. and Eddie V. have blisters on their feet this week. They have been selling light bulbs all over town for the Lion's Club. Did you have fun? Larry Lamb, I hear your fellow classmates are buying you a bikini. When are you going to model it? Margaret B. has new contact lenses. She is supposed to wear them until 10:00 each day. How come you held up the class every day trying to locate them. Do they slide that easily? Try some Fliners Glue Library Club. do you always have that much fun at a meeting? Looks as if you accomplished a lot, even if it was fun. Kathy B., why are you so happy today? Could it be because a certain boy, J. J., is coming home from Georgia. What happened to your legs the other day. Joan T. We saw you fall down in H. H. when you were leaving. Larry Norman, why were you at the Beta Club meeting Tuesday night? Are you a new honorary member or have you studied hard this first week?

Janice Obtains Honor

A Letter of Commendation honoring high performance on the 1966 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT) was awarded to one student at Belle Glade High School. Principal Pelton Morris has announced. The commended student is Janice Blumenthal. She is among 38,000 students who took the NMSQT, president of NMSAC, said. "The out- standing record made by these students in a national competition deserves public recognition. Their significant academic attainment gives promise of continued success in college."

Six Take Tests For Scholarship Loan From BGHS

Six Belle Glade High School students took the nursing and teaching tests for Florida Scholarship Loans Tuesday at Forsyth Hall High School. They are Lura Livingston, Jane Zampf, Olga Ortiz, Diane Shiver, Doris Phillips and Vick Bryson. The tests for the Florida Scholarship Loans for Nursing and teaching are being given at various places in Florida and all students who plan to go to colleges in the states are encouraged to take them. These scholarships are in the form of loans, which may be as many years as the particular type program requires, provided the scholarship holder maintains satisfactory academic progress and meets all requirements of the scholarship and training in nursing or teaching. The nursing scholarship loans are available to those students interested in practical nursing, professional diploma, associate degree, basic college and advanced study in nursing. The teaching scholarship loans are offered to those interested in teaching in kindergarten through high school or college. Each person awarded a state nursing or teaching scholarship loan must agree in writing to begin and continue practicing in accordance with the provisions of the scholarship contract. The nursing scholarship loans may be used in approved basic college schools, the approved professional diploma schools and approved associate degree programs (junior colleges) in Florida. The teaching scholarship loans may be used in state institutions or private institutions. To apply for the tests, all high school seniors should ask for an application form from their guidance counselor or principal. The application form should be completed prior to the date of the examination. Upon arrival at the examination center, the form should be presented to the examiner in charge.

Beta Club Makes Plans

The Beta Club of BGHS has appointed a committee of members to try and organize a Junior Beta Club. This club will be for the Junior High students and will be in conjunction with the high school club. The committee has the task of gathering all the needed material to begin the club. They will have to find out who will be eligible to join, if such a club will be allowed to organize and the requirements for admission into the new club. The club heard the music committee report on the band for the BG-Palooka week. The committee suggested the Chantels and the club voted unanimously to have them. Rules were set up to state the requirements for those wishing to attend the convention. The rules were: 1. Attendance at all meetings unless a legitimate excuse is had. 2. Participation in all club activities. 3. Underclassmen to have priority over seniors. Those wishing to join Beta Club and who have a B or better average are asked to contact Mrs. Lanier or Mary Leigh Americ, president of the club.

MEET THE PRESIDENTS

Eddie Vandergriff, president of the Student Council, would like the student council to be more of a student government than a service club. Eddie is very active in school activities as well as outside activities. He has been on the Teen Town Board for two years. A member of the Junior Civic Club for three years, he was last year's President. Because of his leadership and scholastic ability, he has been invited to lunch with the Lion's Club each week. He was selected by the Lion's School Boy Lion for the month of October. After graduation, Eddie plans to major in business education and history. Eddie's past times are hunting, fishing, and swimming. He was life guard at the swimming pool this summer.

Rams Detail Tigers

With 7:06 remaining in the final quarter, Eddie Prevatt ran 19 yards for the winning touchdown of the game. The game was a hard-fought 19-14 victory for the Rams. It was a close game with fierce competition and many penalties. The first score of the game came in the first quarter when David Bardsley intercepted a Reddy pass and raced 60 yards for a touchdown. Hatfield's kick was good. Gerald Watson scored in the second quarter when he charged over from the five. Bryant Davis' conversion was good and the score was tied. Little more than a minute later Clewiston fumbled when stopped in the end zone. Larry Norman recovered for another touchdown.

SAT Given

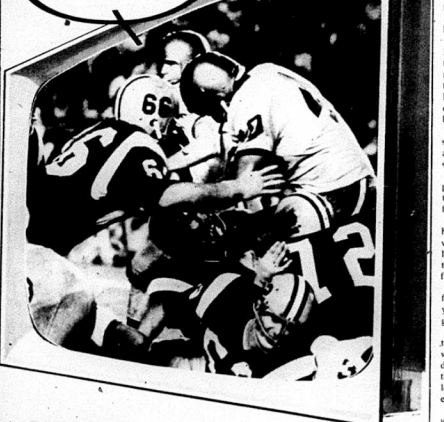

The scholastic aptitude test is given each year by one high school senior who wishes to take it. The fee is $5.00 and there are five dates upon which any senior may take it. It will be given at B. G. H. S. on December 3, and at various locations on the coast on January 15, March 4, May 6, and July 8. The test is given in two sections, the aptitude test in the morning, and the achievement test in the afternoon. Colleges that require this test score for entrance only use the score from the aptitude section. The SAT is given by the College Entrance Examination Board.

Ram touchdown, Davis' kick was wide and the Rams had a half-time lead of 13-7. Midway in the third quarter, Danny Kriedler plunged over from the one. His place- ment kick was good and the Tigers had a one-point lead. Prevatt then ran 19 yards for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter. The extra point attempt failed and the final score was 19-14. Bryant Davis intercepted a Reddy pass in the closing minutes of the game which put the Rams within yards of the Tigers' goal line when the final period ended.

Mustangs Win Over Clewiston

The Jr. High Mustangs met and defeated Clewiston Jr. High by a close margin of 13-11 on Thursday afternoon. Setting up the first score, James Benjamin ran a sweep around the left end, broke away, and ran down to the one. Quarterback Stephen Case then handed the ball to Charles Close up the middle for a touchdown. Conversion was made on a quick pass from Close to Sandy Scruggs, right end. For the second score, Charles Close ran back a forty-yard touchdown, coupled with a quick pass from Close to Sandy Scruggs for the extra point. Not only the score, but statistics show that the Mustangs overpowered those Tigers.

TEACHER SPEAKS — Carol Hummel spoke at a meeting of the Australian Decimal Research Organization. She spoke for decimal currency, and is attempting to show the difficulty in calculating with pounds, shillings and pence. Last year Australia began the changeover to decimal currency.

Former Herald Editor Joins Staff of WTVT

Richard L. Harvey has joined the staff of WTVT, Channel 13, Tampa-St. Petersburg (Fla.) as a newsman, according to vice president and manager Eugene B. Dodson.

A native of Indianapolis, Harvey attended the Jordan College of Music and Radio at Butler University. He came to WTVT from WSAF, Sarasota (Fla.), where he was program director.

Harvey formerly was program director of WATP, Swainsboro, Ga., and news director of WSRK in Shelbyville, Ind. He also served as news editor of the Belle Glade (Fla.) Herald and announcer for WSWN in Belle Glade.

Married and the father of three sons, Harvey lives with his family in Tampa.

Math Teachers Schedules Meet

The annual convention of the Florida Council of Teachers of Mathematics will bring leading mathematicians from Hawaii, Canada and from throughout the United States to serve as speakers at meetings scheduled for October 21 and 22 at the Palm Beach Towers, Palm Beach.

Dr. William A. Schaaf, adjunct professor at Florida Atlantic University, is chairman of the program in which representatives of approximately 40 Florida educational institutions will participate.

Mrs. Ruth Bower, president of the Palm Beach County Council of Teachers of Mathematics, and Mrs. Lora Lewis, vice president of the FCTM, are co-chairmen.

New Watch Maker has joined Cox Jewelers

Mr. Cox of Charles A. Cox Jewelers announced today that they have added another watch maker-jeweler to their service department. A graduate of Elgin Watch College, Mr. Paul Baldwin brings to the Glades area some 20 odd years of experience, including servicing and all of the latest and most modern electronic time pieces. Much of this experience was gained in Atlanta, Georgia before he decided to join South Florida for his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin have four children: two married daughters in Atlanta, Georgia, one son attending North Florida Junior College, and the youngest son, Dennis, attending Belle Glade High School. Mr. Baldwin's association with Charles A. Cox Jewelers will enable them to give the people of the Glades area more and better service.

County Receives National Wildlife Refuge Payment

Louahatchee National Wildlife Refuge Manager Richard L. Thompson announced that a payment of $2,136.45 was made to Palm Beach County under the Refuge Revenue Sharing Act. According to Manager Thompson the act provides for payment equal to 1/2 of one percent of the adjusted value of acquired lands or 25 percent of the net receipts, whichever is greater.

The Refuge Revenue Sharing Act provides that the counties use the funds received for the benefit of public roads and schools. This payment has been used for roads in past years and was earmarked for roads in this year's County Budget.

Seedling Orders Coming Fast Says Area Forester

Have you ordered your seedlings for the 1966-67 planting season? The orders are coming in fast and will continue to be accepted until all seedlings are sold, according to District Forester Ray Hill. These seedlings are sold by the Florida Forest Service on a first come, first served basis.

There are three nurseries operated by the Florida Forest Service which supply seedlings — Munson Nursery, in northwest Florida; Chiefland Nursery, in central Florida; and Herren Nursery, in south Florida. They produce approximately 75 million seedlings per year. Forest industries in the state produce approximately 20 million seedlings per year, mostly for their own use.

Pine seedlings will be five dollars per thousand this year, with a minimum order of five hundred. Where deliveries are made, an extra charge of thirty-five cents per thousand or any portion under a thousand should be added for transportation costs. A minimum order of twenty-five potted plants can be bought only at Herren Nursery, and these are tropical species.

According to Hill, Glades County leads in the number of acres planted to seedlings in District Six with approximately 2,000 acres; Lee County is second with approximately 1,750 acres planted.

Seedlings may be ordered from any Florida Forest Service office, County Agent, or SCS office in your area.

Teacher Recounts Australia Visit

(EDITOR'S NOTE) — The following article was written by Miss Carol Hummel about her visit in Australia.

A surprising number of people in the Glades, upon learning that I have visited and lived in Australia, have expressed a serious interest in this all-too-little-known-about country. I haven't been able to meet with everyone interested and so am taking this opportunity through our local newspaper to try to reach all interested in Australia.

Midway through my college career my brother Bob, a friend Iry Hughes, and I took a summer and semester off to visit 28 countries round the world. This included Australia during the time the Olympic Games were being held in Melbourne. We hitch-hiked from Perth on the west side to Melbourne on the southeast where we spent two weeks watching the games in the evening, including serving and all of the latest and most modern electronic time pieces. Much of this experience was gained in Atlanta, Georgia before he decided to join South Florida for his home.

I finished college, taught a year of school here, and, having fallen deeply in love with Australia, returned to live and teach for 18 months.

The Australian continent is almost the same size as the United States, yet the population is only about that of New York. It's off the world's beaten paths all right. It's 8,000 miles away in the South Pacific Ocean.

In 1770, Captain James Cook claimed the land for England. Later, about 1788, when the prisoners and jails got so full in England, the sent a ship of prisoners to far-off Australia. Some had only stolen a loaf of bread or two (so the story goes), and once arrived in the new land, they behaved. They had no friends and no existence. Even worse of offenders forgot about crime with their new-found spaciousness and freedom.

The men were lonely and didn't care for their own cooking. They began to grumble and asked for women to be sent down for marrying.

"That's how it began."

Australia, then, is a British Commonwealth nation. Queen Elizabeth is the figurehead; there are two parties: Labor and Liberal; two houses of Parliament: Upper and Lower; and a Prime Minister. Here is a Government so eager to increase its population and growth that it pays almost the entire fare of a European; and part fare of an American providing he promises to work there for at least two years. Partly out of consideration for her own native black man, the aborigine, Australia has an "all white" immigration policy, permitting neither other blacks nor Orientals.

The Florida Citrus Commission has launched a three-month survey of trade and consumer attitudes to determine market potential for Florida Frozen concentrated juice.

With an English background and American influence, Australia is unique. American influence began with World War II when American soldiers were hospitably received there. Many Americans returned after the war and those with ideas and capital made a big impact on Australian manufacturing and commerce. Now with modern transportation hundreds of Aussies travel to New York and San Francisco each year for new ideas and methods which they often incorporate upon return to their homeland.

Thus, with English tradition and American newness and vitality, plus their own ideas, Australia, the land with the Southern Cross in its skies, is indeed a unique country.

One advance is found this year with the change in the money system from pence, shillings and pounds to dollars and cents. With 12 pence to a shilling and 20 shillings to a pound, and a guinea worth five shillings, the Aussies and accountants as well have had a long session. One school superintendent estimated students were kept two years behind in math due to their former English monetary system.

The public school system has not the wholehearted support of the government and the upper middle class families send their children to private and parochial schools, with the Church of England schools predominating.

A variety of architecture is seen from ornate Victorian to ultra modern structures. Apartment dwelling construction is gaining momentum and most apartment units are hand led by a real estate broker rather than the owner or an occupant on the premises. Sub division housing is on the increase also. New office buildings are going up. The tallest building in Australia was recently built in Melbourne — 11 stories.

Australians play outdoors. Thousands of city dwellers and workers retreat to the hills or the coast nearby for an entire weekend. Most of the nation's population live in the large cities of Perth (west), Melbourne (south), Adelaide (south), Sydney and Brisbane (east), on the coastline. They may drive to the coast with the house trailer, called a caravan, or they may have their caravan permanently parked there, beside the flat beach or by the sand dunes. Here they go surfing, swimming, sailing, canoeing or even skin diving on the coral reefs.

The highlands attract the hiker and the higher mountains the skier in the winter, the mountains being the only place where it snows.

Aussies are keen on tennis, too, and besides public tennis courts, every neighborhood has a few houses with tennis courts in the back yard and a sign for the public in the driveway, said, "Tennis, 25 cents an hour." Another sport one sees, perhaps as a result of the impact of the Olympic Games held in Melbourne, are young boys riding racing bicycles out on long stretches of highway.

A variety of automobiles travel the cities and country—the outback or bush, as the Aussies call it — all the American cars, rarely seen European cars such as the Wolvo, Daimler, Bentley, Lanchester, Borgward, and Hummer, plus General Motors' Australian-made cars, the Holden.

Game reserves attract the countrymen to see their coveted native pets, the koola who is usually sleeping in a gum tree or chewing out the moisture of a gum leaf; the kangaroo with a baby in her pouch; the duckbilled platypus floating on a pond; and a kookaburra laughing at you from the tree tops.

Great delight and pride is shown in special celebrations and festivities. One ten-day celebration is known as Moomba Day. Moomba, being an aboriginal word meaning, "Let's get together and have some fun! At night people go downtown and dance to the music of various hands and do snake-dances in the streets. In the daytime the parks are filled with Merry-go-rounds, cat stands, beauty parades, cat shows, and on the river there is great competition between the boys' private schools in racing sculls.

Much interest is taken in music and plays in the "Land Down Under." An entire top-ranking London opera troupe or theatrical cast will come down to entertain; well-known conductors (Sir Thomas Beecham when I was there) and orchestras from various nations will come to perform. Melbourne has an outdoor amphitheater where concerts are played to listeners sitting and lounging on a high sloping hill.

All theater and movie house programs begin with the British National Anthem, "God Save the Queen," played live or by tape and sung by the audience. A national favorite, "Waltzing Matilda," is often played in public places.

Here are some miscellaneous tidbits which were true when I lived there in 1960, some of which may be changed now. The milkman came by horse and wagon; the local grocer delivered; the mailman only left twice; the breadman delivered every day. One TV channel had no commercials; one paid a fee each year for this channel. The steering wheel is on the right side of the car; people drive on the left side of the road. The evening meal is called tea; a night snack is called supper. Passion fruit is popular in fruit salads. The country is rich in sheep and steer, and lamb chops and steak are often eaten. Wool cloth is relatively inexpensive. Most houses have a tall fence or hedge around them, except in the newest subdivisions. There were several popular dance halls open on weekend nights. They were patronized mostly by young people, were crowded, and hoodlum types were not permitted. Fellows and girls both wore decent boots long before they were popular in America. For the most part, people dress like Americans except possibly there are more hat worn and many carry umbrellas like the British.

Being settled mostly by the English, Australians naturally speak English, although with an accent all their own. A mis conception of the language spoken by Australians is found in a story told by an Australian who had traveled in America. He was on a train and got into a friendly conversation with the woman beside him. When he told her he was from Australia, she replied, "Ah, but you speak English so well."

Americans are not the only ones who are misinformed about a people who admires us so much and about whom we know so little. Two English women must have thought all Australians were aborigines. They went to a play in London in which they knew an Australian was cast. The character came on stage in drag and the woman beside him, who the Australian came on one woman whispered to the other, "The makeup is jolly well good, he looks just like one of us."

What Is This, A Prayer Meeting? Who ever is talking couldn't be this boring, or is it the six-week grades that's bugging the group?

AREA EDUCATORS MEET

The members of the Assistant Principals' and Deans' Association of Palm Beach County were hosted by Lake Shore Jr.-Sr. High School on Tuesday evening, October 11th at 3:30 P. M.

Prior to the business session, Mr. Bill Neet of Pupil Personnel Services and a panel gave a most interesting discussion on the role of the case workers and cited many interesting cases that they have been associated with during the past year.

Bobcats Fight Eagles

The mighty Bobcats will clash with the Carver High Eagles, Oct. 21, on the Lake Shore High Athletic field. This will be the fourth conference game of the season, and we hope, the third straight win against the Eagles.

Seniors Take State-Wide Examination

On October 12th, 1966 the ninety-one seniors of Lake Shore Jr.-Sr. High School took the Florida State Wide Senior Examination. This test consisted of five parts. They are: English and Aptitude, Natural Sciences, Social Studies, and Mathematics.

The test was administered in the Lake Shore Gymnasium by Mr. Chas. McCurdy and Mr. Oris Walker. All the seniors seemed to have been overwhelmed and enthused about the test. Each person worked very hard trying to do the best that they could.

As Mr. McCurdy, says and I quote, "A winner never quits and a quitter never wins." The test was approximately five hours in length.

For the most part, I believe that each student did the best that he or she possibly could, because all the students were given procedures and techniques in taking standardized tests, before taking the examination. We had some of the best possible instructors helping us. On Tuesday and Thursday all seniors met in the cafeteria with Mr. Perry, our science instructor and Mr. Lawrence, our Math instructor who aided us by showing films and making us test conscious.

When the test was over Mr. McCurdy complimented each of us on how hard we had worked without giving up. The results of the test will be back dated on December 14th of this year.

To the incoming seniors that will be confronted with this test prepare yourselves now for tomorrow might be too late.

Animal Feeding Demonstration

The Food and Nutrition classes at Lake Shore are conducting an animal feeding demonstration with two White C-F-N rats that are only 21 days old.

Students and teachers have taken a great interest in this project.

The two white rats came last week as part of a demonstration by the Dairy Council of South Florida to show the importance of drinking milk. During the demonstration one rat will be given milk and dairy product. The other rat will be given only water with his food. They will be weighed weekly to show gain and loss in weight.

The classes hope that this demonstration will stimulate an interest in good diet and will spread to the homes.

Bobcats Victors Over Murray High

The Mighty Bobcats journeyed to Murray High of Stuart, to play a conference game on Friday night, October 14, 1966. Make a long story short this is how the Bobcats won.

In the first quarter the Bobcats figured there was no need in letting the Lions feel that they had any chances of winning, so Charles Haynes made a gallant run of 31 yards, for Lake Shore's first touchdown.

To pave the way, the first touchdown wasn't just luck. Haynes came back again on a 3 yard run making a second touchdown for Lake Shore (PAT) Charles Walker made the score 13-0.

In the second quarter after a spectacular run by Joe Sheely Jr. Haynes completed a 26 yard pass to one of his able bodied ends, Roman Fitzpatrick, for Lake Shore's third touchdown. Half time score 19-0.

Then very early in the third quarter, surprisingly, the Lions managed to slip in for a touchdown, but rain or no rain the Bobcats were out to win this game, and to prove this Charles Haynes made Lake Shore's fourth touchdown on a 41 yard sprint.

Due to rain difficulty the Mighty Bobcats were short that day, this needed to win the game.

We would like for the staff to keep up the good work and continue to make this year's paper interesting.

"The Farm Front"

By Doyle Conner

The ultimate benefit consumers derive from a sound agricultural economy is ample supplies of food at fair, reasonable prices. To this end, Florida farmers have been vitally concerned with increasing their production efficiency.

Although Florida agriculture and its related industries have experienced tremendous growth in recent years, the potential of agribusiness in this state has yet to be reached. There still is room for a vast increase in the farm output of food and fiber.

Urban and rural residents alike, however, must realize that Florida agriculture must have a favorable tax climate if it is to survive. Our farmers must also be assured of land availability for future as well as for present needs.

I have repeatedly stated that tax assessment of farm, ranch and grove land should be neither so high that it drives agriculture from the land, nor so low that the land does not carry its fair share of the taxes.

Our farmers can be protected through the enactment of proper city and county zoning against the encroachment or urban expansion. It is my feeling that the zoning acts should stipulate that once a tract of land is zoned for farming use, it must be confined to that use and cannot be sold for other purposes without first being rezoned.

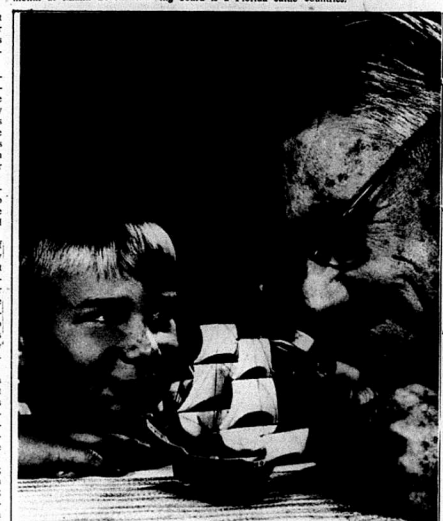

Such zoning plans would remove farmland from the realm of speculation and, thereby, protect the bona fide grower from greatly fluctuating tax assessments and rates.

Consumer protection is very much in the news these days. Along with it, there is some talk about the need of the state of Florida to create a special consumer protection agency.

I want to point out that the present State Constitution already provides for the protection of the consumer. The Florida Department of Agriculture is the number one state agency which has been delegated certain responsibilities to the consumer. In addition, several other state agencies have similar duties.

venture in marketing has been in the field of international trade. A highly successful Florida-Latin American Agricultural Conference held last month at Miami Beach has brought about improved communications between this state and her Latin American neighbors.

On the Department's drawing board is a Florida cattle show which is being designed to stimulate international trade. It is expected that the show will attract upwards of 500 leading cattlemen from other countries.
